

The Grants Lab

Sharing Lessons on SDG Monitoring Capacities

What different initiatives and grants learned about RBM and data use

In the past years, AVANTI and other grants or initiatives have identified valuable lessons learned from the work done, and at this event, through a dynamic talk show with key guests, we will explore these lessons, particularly around data (use, generation, methodologies, harmonization), leadership and ownership in RBM processes, financial targeting (for capacity building at national/local levels along the data value chain), and more.

At this digital event, AVANTI will also present its flagship publication: a knowledge product that highlights key insights and lessons learnt of this grant in the recent years around the world.

Sharing knowledge and learning collaboratively makes every effort stronger.
